No Hazard Clause, Parents Are Advised To Favor Local School Personnel for Top Jobs

Principle Made Firm At Parley Won't Go Outside Till Check Made

Personnel of the faculty and administrative staffs of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) will be given preference in advancement as future vacancies arise, according to policy enunciated Thursday evening by the board of education.

This has been the usual practice of the board in the past but its action last night establishes a firm principle.

If there is a vacancy and a local person can do the job effectively the position will be offered to him.

Long Discussions Help

Action came following a lengthy discussion of appointment of an elementary school supervisor for the outlying attendance areas of the enlarged city district.

No names were mentioned but Dr. Earl F. Soper advised the board that in his opinion several local staff members are capable of handling the job with professional skill.

Under the policy stated last night local people would be screened first when vacancies arise, such as a new principalship. If local people can be recommended by the superintendent he will do so and the board will consider such persons first. If one is found suitable the board will offer him the position and not go outside the city to obtain applicants.

If there is not a suitable person in the local school system, the board will then seek candidates from outside the school district.

Followed in Past

It was pointed out that, for the most part, advancements in the past have been local. For example, Principal M. Clifford Miller of Kingston High School, Principal Stephen Hyatt of M.J.M. Principal William R. Gordon who was advanced from School 3 to a combination principalship in Schools 6 and 8. Principal Mary Polhemus, and others.

Listed as recent exceptions were the appointments of Dr. Soper himself as superintendent, as well as the assistant superintendent of schools, Franklin Hazard, and Principal Donald Sweeney of School No. 4 succeeding Raymond Van Valkenburgh who retired at the close of the present school year.

Bids Accepted

The board accepted the following transportation bids: Perry Taxi, Inc., Chambers Route 2, $5,700; Lipton's Bee Line, Hurley Route 1, $5,600; Allen, Georgetown Washington School Route 1, $1,400; and Malone, Lake Katrine School, $1,800.

It deferred action on a bid of $2,700 by the Pine Hill Bus Corp. for George Washington School Route No. 2.

The board also voted to purchase a station wagon on state contract for Tillson Route 5 and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

NEW SERVICE AVAILABLE TO THE BLIND—The Sight Conservation and Blind Committee of Kingston Lions Club has subscribed to Newsweek Magazine on records which will be available to the blind at Kingston Public Library. They may be borrowed by the blind under the same arrangement as books are from the library. This will provide the sightless an opportunity to keep up with world events and other topics covered by the weekly. The Lions

Three-Year Rule For Sergeants Is Asked by KP Assn.

A proposed civil service regulation limiting promotional examinations locally for appointment of sergeants to patrolmen with a minimum of three years of service can become effective with state approval a spokesman for the Municipal Civil Service Commission said today.

A request for such limitation by the Kingston Patrolmen's Association was approved last night by the police board and will be forwarded by the local commission to the State Municipal Civil Service Commission.

Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Alfred Worsdell of Albany, head of the Organization Relations Department of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce, outlined many of the issues which are likely to confront the 1960 Legislature. John Ponsen, chairman of the committee, presided and Chamber president Frederick H. Stang also attended.

Urges Early Action

Worsdell outlined the studies being made by several commissions and urged the local Chamber of Commerce, after careful study, to recommend features which should be included in possible legislation rather than wait until bills are written. Three such bodies should be of great interest to businessmen. One is the special commission studying the tax structure of the state. Another is the Commission on Economic Development which is studying the underlying factors which would create more job opportunities. A third is the Joint Commission on State Operations.

During the presentation of the many problems facing businessmen, there was considerable discussion and a great deal of enthusiasm to take some action. Issues will be studied and action (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Hurley Attorney To Get Position Gaffney Resigned

The office of Governor Rockefeller announced today that he will appoint Francis X. Tucker, 35, of Hurley as surrogate of Ulster County to fill the vacancy which existed since July 1 by reason of the resignation of Surrogate Charles H. Gaffney.

Arterial Route to Cut $121,450 Off Tax Roll

Kingston, through loss from its tax rolls of 15 properties for the right-of-way of the arterial route system, will lose roughly $121,450 in assessed valuation, it was learned today.

Most of the properties involved are in the triangular area formed by Broadway, East St. James Street and Albany Avenue.

The loss, as is now stands, in total effect, can be figured at the rate of $3 per $1,000 assessed valuation, but since new construction and other factors are expected to offset the total loss to an extent unknown at this time, the final total when the next tax roll is completed, should not represent such a heavy cut in total assessed valuation.

Highest Assessments . . .

Highest assessed, at some $31,000, was the Socony gas station site, and another among the higher ones was the Robert R. Rodie property, off Albany Avenue, listed at $18,000 assessed valuation. Others involved are the Evan J. Davis properties on East St. James Street, two other gasoline station sites, and several frame buildings on Broadway housing stores and living quarters.

Raising of the buildings is due to start momentarily, a spokesman for John R. Arborio Inc., of Poughkeepsie, contractor for the arterial route project indicated today. It could be even next week, he said, depending on how soon underground work in the triangular area is completed.

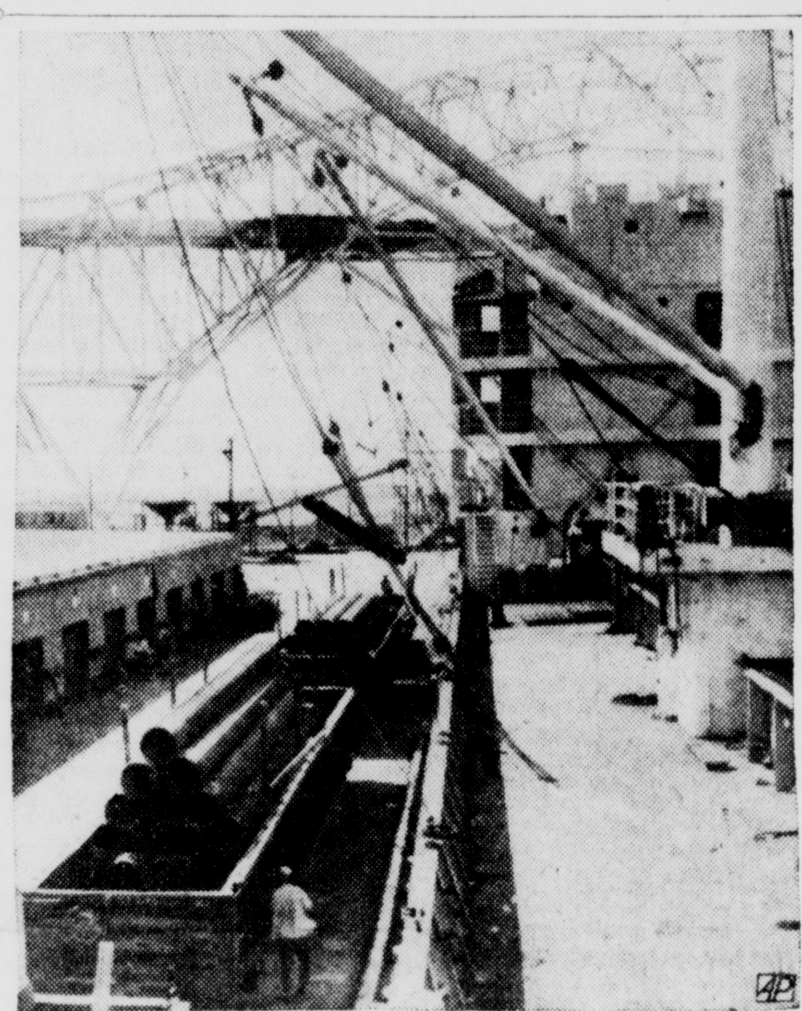

Work on all other phases of the project has been progressing rapidly through the summer.

Reisman Declines View on Boring Linked to Probe

"No comment at this time," was the reply of Chief Assistant Attorney General Leonard Reisman today when asked if test borings being made along Abel Street were connected with the Ulster County "kickback" probe.

Test borings have been made along sections of the Abel Street pavement, apparently to determine the thickness of the black-top pavement. It has been rumored that the test cores being taken from the pavement are being selected to determine whether the blacktop laid on the street is according to specifications. It is also reported that the Board of Public Works of the city of Kingston is in receipt of a communication from Special Investigator Bernard Tompkins's office, asking permission to make the test borings. There was "no comment" in regard to a question in regard to the report.

Two Residents, One Boarder 3 Lose Lives Thursday In County Drownings

Two Ulster County residents and one boarder from Jackson Heights, L. I., were victims of accidental drowning Thursday.

Eleanor Willis, 22, of 3 Hickory Street, Ellenville, and a companion, Thomas M. Nixon, 16, of 169 Center Street, Ellenville, were drowned at Honk Lake, about two miles West of Nanapanoch shortly before 5 p. m. and Otto Schwarze, 54, of 41-16 76th Street, Jackson Heights, a boarder at the Scharmer Boarding House, Main Street, Rosendale, was drowned in Rondout Creek at Rosendale about 2 p. m.

Steppe Off Ledge

The Willis girl and Nixon were drowned while Nixon apparently stepped off a ledge into a deep hole as he was carrying Miss Willis in his arms in about five feet of water, according to James Mann, 15, of New York City, a cousin of Nixon. Mann, who was on the bank at the time, saw the couple struggling in the water and made an attempt to rescue them. Mann, who is not an experienced swimmer, since his swimming had been confined to pools, made an attempt to bring the couple to shore but their struggles prevented his giving any aid and he made a vain attempt to push a log to them but apparently they were unable to grasp and hold on.

According to a statement made by Mann, the couple had been (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Stalemate Marks Talks to Prevent Hospital Strike

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—With a strike deadline three days away, union organizers and the non-profit hospitals in the Buffalo area have reported that talks are stalemated.

The main stumbling block was the issue of union recognition.

Continue Today

Both sides reported "no progress" after four-hour negotiations Thursday night. The hospital representatives rejected a union proposal for binding arbitration of the outstanding issues, claiming that it would surrender too much authority.

Caucus Results Still Incomplete in Wards

Results of city caucuses held to select candidates for supervisor and alderman in the 13 wards of the city are still scattered and incomplete, a check by The Freeman discloses.

Republican designations in four wards are still unfilled and the Democratic wards still missing number seven.

Meanwhile, two unofficial political conventions are scheduled by the Republican party in Kingston on Saturday and next Monday night.

Tomorrow, starting at 11 a. m., the GOP county session will get underway at municipal auditorium. Vincent G. Connelly, former Republican city chairman, will be the keynote.

Monday night, at the Court House, the unofficial city convention will get underway at 8 o'clock.

Democratic candidates, chosen at the unofficial convention this week, were:

Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, unanimous choices to succeed themselves.

Arthur B. Ewig, surrogate; Dr. Harry C. McNamara, coroner and Marshall Yerry, sheriff.

The following nominees on the Republican ticket have been reported:

Ward 1—James Rapp, 68 Green Street, supervisor; Edward J. Schrowang, 273 Clinton Avenue.

Ward 2—Benjamin A. Storms, 232 Smith Avenue, supervisor; Clark W. Myers, 408 Foxhall Avenue, alderman.

100 Meet On School Bus Rides Mileage Is Major Concern of State

Some 100 parents and taxpayers of the Kingston Rural School Area Committee presented petitions bearing 3,518 signatures to the Kingston Board of Education (Consolidated) Thursday evening asking for revision of the school bus transportation policy.

The board listened for three hours, during which the audience, composed largely of women, applauded its spokesmen enthusiastically. The board took the request under consideration, its members expressing concern over hazardous roads cited by spokesmen for the committee but indicating that its hands were bound by State Education Law.

Based on Mileage

It was explained that there is no "hazard" regulation in the law, that the regulation is based solely on mileage.

The present policy of the board of education is to transport elementary school children residing one mile or more from their school and high school students who live two or more miles from school.

Spokesmen for the rural committee said it was the general understanding in the outlying school districts prior to consolidation that the school bus system would remain substantially as it was. Otherwise the rural area would probably have voted against consolidation, they said.

Children in the outlying school districts were transported to school, in general, regardless of where they lived.

Disclaim Blame

Rural committee representatives said they had been told by speakers prior to consolidation that the bus system would remain unchanged, implying that the board was responsible for the dissemination of misinformation.

The board explained that if the rural people had been misinformed it was not the fault of the board, that speakers at rural meetings had been rural people, and that it had never been the intention of the board to convey any such idea, that the board realized at the time that transportation policy must evolve slowly. As a matter of fact, wrinkles are still being ironed out, the committee was told.

It was pointed out further that if everybody was transported in the rural areas, then everybody would have to be transported in the city of Kingston, resulting in a transportation cost that might soar as high as half a million dollars.

Suggests Referendum

Howard Fox, a member of the board, suggested that a possible answer might be a referendum in the school district on a proposition to transport all school children.

Rogers Murphy, chairman of the rural committee, agreed that it might be a feasible idea.

The committee, with Attorney Arthur Ewig as counsel, laid particular stress last night on the safety of children walking to school, pointing out that many of them must walk along hazardous roads, some of which are narrow, even in some cases without shoulders, some with unusually heavy traffic, some particularly dangerous during winter when covered with snow or glazed with ice.

Others Speak

Speaking for the committee, besides Ewig and Murphy, were Supervisor Roger E. Mabie of the town of Esopus, Miss Mary Wiseman of Connelly, Fred Brown of Sleightsburgh, Harry Skerritt of Hurley, Mrs. Ada Post of the Emma Wygant School section, Mrs. Thomas McCullough of East Kingston, Mrs. Walter Peterson of Lake Katrine and Saul Sobsey, vice-chairman of the rural committee.

David Kline, chairman of the board's transportation committee, responded for the board of education.

The group submitted photographs of certain areas the committee described as hazardous. Mabie even produced some large sections of rock which he said had fallen into 9W just south of the Rondout creek bridge during a heavy rainstorm last week.

Sale of Legion to Be Discussed on Tuesday

Proposed sale of its property on West O'Reilly Street for school purposes will be the main topic of discussion at the July meeting of Kingston Post 150, American Legion Tuesday.

This was announced today by Commander Joseph E. Sills Jr., who urges a large attendance of Legionnaires at the meeting scheduled for 8 p. m.

Basics of the discussion is a letter from the Kingston Area Board of Education (Consolidated) proposing that the American Legion sell the property to be used for administrative offices.

The board has included in its expansion budget $48,000 for more office space and is desirous of acquiring the Legion building as one means of meeting its needs. The building would be remodeled to suit it for the board's purposes.

Commander Sills, a veteran of the Korean conflict, said the matter is of such deep importance that he desires a large attendance of Legionnaires at Tuesday's session.

The building of brick construction with a colonial front of white wooden columns was built in 1925 as a headquarters for World War 1 veterans and has been a landmark ever since. World War 2 servicemen and those from the Korean conflict are among the membership now as well as those who have seen military service during the threat to world peace.

Commander Sills is desirous of full expression from Legionnaires at the meeting regarding sale of the property which has been their gathering place for 34 years and presently is considered of vital importance in the local educational picture due to consolidation of Kingston with rural areas.

It has been pointed out at board of education meetings that there is a great necessity for more office space than is available in buildings of the school system now.

Why We Say--

SEA LEGS

SENSE OF BALANCE: Sailors have a saying that people have two kinds of legs, "land legs" and "sea legs." What they mean by sea legs is actually a sense of balance which enables a person to walk on a rolling ship. . . . The expression is also used to describe someone who is intoxicated and having difficulty in walking.

Police, FBI Nab Eight to Crack 'Hot' Car Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Police and the FBI have arrested eight men — including a Westchester County used car dealer — and report recovery of 40 cars valued at more than $100,000 — to crack a stolen auto ring.

Authorities said Thursday an additional 60 cars, all 1958 and 1959 models, are expected to be recovered in the next few days. They also promised more arrests.

Police arrested Robert Ezersky, 32, of Yonkers, operator of a used car lot in Mount Vernon, N. Y., Harold Wapnick, 33, of Brooklyn, and Philip Roy, 49, an auto body shop owner, Queens.

The FBI arrested Mac Gladding, 30, an auto mechanic, of Yonkers; Joe Montiero, 31, an auto body repair man, of The Bronx; Walter Albert Bedell, 19, of Queens; James Lafazia, 36, The Bronx; and Charles Gersh, 41, a used car dealer of Brooklyn.

The FBI said Bedell was one of several car "heisters" used by the ring. Lafazia allegedly drove the cars to "drops" after picking them up from the "heisters," the FBI said.

Police said a tip to the city auto squad a month ago about the used cars sold at Ezersky's Mount Vernon lot touched off the crack-down. One car sold to a priest for $2,000 turned out to be stolen, police said.

Ezersky denied any knowledge of stolen cars.

Senate to Get Bill On Water Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would authorize construction of $657,310,500 in water projects was on its way to the Senate today.

The House approved it Thursday. There was no opposition and only brief debate.

Rep. Clifford Davis (R-Tenn.) said there had been no objections to the bill from the Budget Bureau or the Army Engineers.

The measure would authorize navigation, flood-control, river basin and erosion-control projects. An appropriation would be necessary, in addition to the authorization, before any projects could be started.

New York State projects in the authorization bill are: Navigation: Moriches and Shinnecock Inlets, Suffolk County, $6-858,000; Buffalo Harbor, $2,352,000.

Flood Control: Cayuga Inlet, Ithaca, $3,950,000; Smokes Creek, Lackawanna, $1,974,000.

BEST ENGINES!

one of 7 Big Bests Chevy gives you over any car in its field

You've got more to go on than our say-so. Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED says it this way: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And if you want the thrift of a six, you still get the best of it in a Chevy.

BEST ECONOMY

No doubt about this: a pair of Chevy sixes with Powerglide came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon.

BEST BRAKES

Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research

BEST RIDE

A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BEST TRADE-IN

Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

*National Automobile Dealers Association

BEST ROOM

Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST STYLE

It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS IN '59 THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

SAFE-DRIVING TIPS

The National Safety Council describes a free booklet of safe-driving tips for teenagers, which is being distributed by an oil company, as one of the most important contributions to safety ever made.

The tips, which come from professionals, state patrolmen, test track drivers and the trucker, include the following:

Don't show off or clown behind the wheel of a motor vehicle.

Have guts enough behind the wheel to chicken out when common sense tells you it's time to give in.

Never mind who is right, just be smart and stay alive.

The squeal of tires and the roar of the exhaust may sound like hot stuff to a driver who needs it to build up his ego, but it tags him as strictly amateur to the real pro. The pro gives in to bad weather, bad roads and traffic jams and slows down.

Would your coach send in a player who has been drinking? Well, it goes double for driving. Remember a half loaded driver is more dangerous than a loaded gun.

Teenagers are involved in twice as many fatal accidents for the number of miles they drive as drivers over 25. This tragic and needless picture will change in a hurry if the young drivers will follow sound and simple tips like these.

FREEDOM AND FREELANCERS

A short time ago a rather odd device, looking pretty much like a large wall clock, took its place in the Smithsonian Institute alongside the first automobile and airplane.

It was the first cash register, invented by a midwestern cafe owner in 1879. Conceived originally as a "thief catcher," the register has become one of the great regulators of the storekeeper's business. The modern cash register has found its way into more than 100 countries, and the more complex models may record as many as 54 different types of information about a business sale.

James Ritty, the Ohican who devised this first machine, died thinking it a failure. But since his time more than six million registers have been produced.

When Stanley Allyn, president of the National Cash Register Co., presented Ritty's original to the Smithsonian, he took note of the fact that much research and inventive effort today is on a "team" basis.

But he wisely reminded us that a place must somehow be held for the individual inventor, the lone-wolf experimenter, who finds the team harness chafing and restricting. His imagination and daring are still the true well-springs of the progress any industrial nation must make in this age of competing economic systems.

If freedom means anything, it surely means free play for the individual to conceive and test his ideas for making his world a better, more workable place.

QUICKER FORECASTS

It is gratifying to know that the federal government has taken a major step toward greater speed and accuracy in predicting the weather. The Weather Bureau, the Federal Aviation Agency and the Air Force are involved in development of a far more efficient system for collating data and making forecasts quickly available.

Considering the importance of weather data, both to individuals and to large enterprises, relatively little money and skilled manpower have been devoted to working out better forecasting methods. The picture is changing, however, and the project mentioned above is one significant evidence of that.

All this should not be taken to imply that the Weather Bureau now functions in an antiquated manner. Automatic meteorological observation stations are in use; chart drafting machines and mechanical computers are tools which meteorologists find helpful. Yet with all these devices the weather man still requires about four hours

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
EDUCATING ADULTS

The basis of John Foster Dulles' policy always was that there was no way to convince the Russians that their doctrine was wrong, but that a way might be found to show them that the next war would be unprofitable. Many less experienced persons disagreed with Dulles. They believed that washing machines, ranch houses, fancy dresses, and jazz music would convince Khrushchev and his associates that they were all wrong about capitalism.

Today, many Americans are patriotically impelled to take their summer vacation in Moscow where, at $30 a day, they can see the Red Square, with maybe a side trip to Kiev. Others believe that they will save their country from war if they see the Russian fair at the Coliseum in New York and they astonish themselves by discovering that the Russians are white, European and know arithmetic. Those who studied chemistry either at high school or college may recall that the Table of Vanances was worked out by Mendeleev (1834-1907), a Russian who lived before the atom bomb was stolen.

It seems as though our people, all of whom were forced to go to school at one time or another, have a happy faculty of forgetting everything they were ever taught—or most of it. The Ford Foundation has taken note of this condition and has set aside some money for "The Fund for Adult Education." This money is not to be spent on the unlearned and unwashed, but on the educated and intelligent who are preparing themselves for public leadership. It is a recognition, in a very practical way, of the need for knowledge by those who have pretensions to or the actuality of national significance.

How many will avail themselves of such opportunities as will be offered, it is difficult to estimate. About five years ago, a group of friends of Robert A. Taft thought that a fitting memorial for him would be an institute devoted to research into the type of democratic-republicanism for which he was so long responsible in the Senate. It was a very good idea along the same line for which the Ford Foundation is seeking a formula, except that the Ford Foundation will have to be so broad, to satisfy all the differences of view on the board of directors of The Fund for Adult Education, that it may smear itself very thin.

I have read their prospectus carefully and am waiting to see what genius can produce 13 half-hour dramatizations of De Tocqueville's analysis of life in America. If it can be done, it will be a brilliant achievement and it may even stimulate the reading of De Tocqueville and after that of "The Federalist." Who knows? We might even encourage members of Congress to familiarize themselves with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States and the many documents which went into the formation of this nation.

The work of this Fund should be encouraged and watched. I receive daily a very large fan mail, as it is called. Today, for instance, I received a letter of 45 pages from a reader who did not sign his name but who dealt with some rather primitive ideas in psychology, physiology and Biblical history. His spelling was correct, but his punctuation and sentence structure were atrocious.

I make the point that this is an active even aggressive citizen who has ideas but requires education. Many more important men could stand a refresher course. They have forgotten what they were taught and reach conclusions based on prejudices and preconceptions.

This disease is not limited to liberals. I saw an editorial in a New York City newspaper, referring to Robert Moses who is nowadays a ripe target for criticism. It contained this paragraph: "For all his talents, it becomes increasingly apparent that Mr. Moses has spread himself too thin. There simply are not enough hours in a day for him to give all those jobs the close attention they require. No man could."

But the fact is that most competent administrators do operate on a great many fronts simultaneously. Take, for instance, the president of a complex company such as U. S. Steel or General Electric or General Motors! The writer of the editorial either does not know how a multi-faceted position is organized or he believes that those in public service must necessarily be incompetent. Truly a school for educated men is needed.

Eat Plenty of Vitamin B
Foods to Prevent Pellagra

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Pellagra is among the major diseases which can be caused by vitamin deficiency.

Although no longer really common in North America, pellagra still occurs from time-to-time and possibly is not recognized for what it is in some instances.

That pellagra is still not as rare as it should be, is shown by the fact that I have received several letters asking me to discuss it.

Pellagra is essentially a disease which is caused by a deficiency of certain foods in the diet. It has been widely distributed over many parts of the world for a long time.

In 1930, over 6,000 deaths in the U. S. registration area were reported as having been caused by pellagra. By 1940, this had fallen to slightly more than 2,000. The decline is continuing.

A few years ago, the United Nations announced plans to fight the disease in Rumania where 35,000 cases were believed to exist in women and children alone.

This disease is probably the result of insufficient amounts of the "vitamin B complex" in the diet. It can be prevented by eating reasonable quantities of fresh meat, dairy products and certain vegetables.

Once pellagra has developed in serious form, however, bed rest in a hospital may be necessary, as well as a diet containing rather large quantities of milk, meat, eggs, fresh vegetables and enough food to supply an adequate number of calories.

Brewer's yeast and similar substances containing large amounts of vitamin B are helpful. The symptoms of pellagra may be rather indefinite in nature and include such things as irritability (but, of course, there are other causes for this!), headache, difficulty in sleeping, weakness, and a feeling of mental depression. The digestive system is usually disturbed with vague abdominal pains or intermittent diarrhea.

In the more acute types, fever, general weakness and a rapidly downward course may lead to death. In the chronic forms—when untreated—there is a tendency to mental deterioration.

The rough skin of pellagra is characteristic. Although pellagra can cause death there are probably many more people whose health is damaged but who manage to survive.

As in the case in other disorders caused by insufficient vitamins, the major effort against this disease should be aimed at prevention. A well balanced diet, including fresh vegetables and dairy products is desirable. If such foods are available there should be no reason for anyone to develop pellagra. Because pellagra preventing foods are relatively costly, however, the disease is more common in regions of the world which are economically depressed.

to come up with sound predictions.

After the contemplated new system begins to function, this time will be cut to an hour—in some cases to 30 minutes or so. That will be a major advance in an area which is of importance to everyone.

Making a Tough Climb Tougher

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The question is how to develop a U. S. Foreign Service competent to do its job in an increasingly complex world? It must be truly representative of the best in America without being considered an Ivy League clique or caste.

The State Department has again turned thumbs down on the idea of creating a National Foreign Service Academy, a kind of West Point to train diplomats.

Senators Stuart W. Symington (D-Mo.), Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) and several Congressmen are this year's authors of bills to set up such a finishing school. But Loy W. Henderson, deputy undersecretary of state for administration and a career foreign service officer (FSO) himself, says, "No." Department of State still prefers to take college graduates just as they come and teach them diplomacy in the school of experience.

A RECENT CHECK OF 670 young people recruited into the Foreign Service in six and a half years showed them to be graduates of 145 U. S. colleges and universities.

Harvard led the parade with 68, Yale was second with 56, Princeton third with 46. Then came the University of California, 32; Chicago, 26; Georgetown, 23; George Washington, 21; Columbia, 17; Stanford and Wisconsin, 14.

This big 10 accounted for 47 per cent of the personnel in training. The other 135 schools had one to 10 graduates apiece in service, from 44 states in the Union.

Well-intentioned as this broad base of selection may be, the system still is not producing enough high caliber foreign service officers to meet the demand.

AS ONE DISTINGUISHED FSO remarked recently, "There are only about 25 career people in the State Department to shove around in the top jobs." It was a startling confession. Quantity is short as well as quality.

The United States Foreign Service now has only two active, $20,000-a-year career ambassadors. They are Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy and Ambassador to Austria H. Freeman Matthews. They rank, protocol-wise, just above the 27 four-star admirals and generals.

Right through the services, the country is seen to be better equipped — personnel-wise — for war than peace.

In the rank below the career ambassadors, the Foreign Service has 71 career ministers at $19,250 apiece. They rank just above the 86 three-star generals and admirals.

Forty-five of these career ministers are serving in foreign countries as ambassadors. The other 26 are "shoveled around in top State Department jobs." Ambassador George V. Allen is running the U. S. Information Agency. James W. Riddleberger is running the foreign aid program. Livingston T. Merchant is assistant secretary of state for European Affairs. And so on.

IN ADDITION TO THE FACT that these career ministers aren't paid enough so they can afford to be sent to the top diplomatic posts, there aren't enough of them.

So, of the 82 U. S. embassies abroad, 26 have political appointees as ambassadors. With the exception of men like David K. E. Bruce in Germany and Ellsworth Bunker in India, few of these political ambassadors have had diplomatic training or experience.

This is another factor leading to the demand for better Foreign Service training system. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has been really rough on political appointees this year. For their diplomatic experience they have to depend on the 195 class one FSO's and the 398 class two's. They rank with the 629 two-star admirals and generals and the 457 one-star brigadiers. The Navy has no one-star commodore now.

Nearly all of the flag and general officers are educated in the service academies at government expense. The State Department's 4,333 FSO's, including 815 reserves, must provide their own education before they join the government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In a moment of lucidity, Senator Estes Kefauver viewed with alarm the growth of "conglomerate mergers and conglomerate ownership," the gaudiest example of which, at this moment, is a corporate woodcock listed as Fairbanks-Whitney. This is the masterwork, to date, of Davey (Katz) Karp late of the Daily Worker and of Drew Pearson's learned staff. Mr. Karp spun off into "public relations" after his traffic with the Kremlin's only acknowledged New York daily, interpreting the gentle nature of a foster of rich firms based in New York. He returned from orbit guiding a versatile combine capable of all manner of commerce, from finance to concentrate to slick magazines voicing his own editorial policy.

His relations, sweet and sour, with Leopold D. Silberstein, the German refugee who was deemed too slippery to be brought to grips, have been recounted before. Mr. Silberstein regarded him as a petty hustler, but Mr. Silberstein wound up in London licking his wounds, the victim of board-room Judo that was new to a man who was up to then regarded as master of all the Hols.

Little Davey, as the Dies Committee used to call him, had learned and perhaps even invented novelties in the meta-physical art of running nothing or less into millions by manipulation of the shares of unwary corporations.

Davey seems to do all this by sheer genius, for he is a man of perfunctory education and in journalism his pay had been as little as 40 cents an inch. Yet he has amassed public relations "accounts" of genteel corporations with aggregate fees which enable him to hire star reporters off New York papers at something more than their high cost pay, with due regard for the profit motive in his behalf.

Davey is also author of "The Fight for Control," the proxy-raiders' reliable guide, a re-write of old clippings if you insist, but with interpretation and directions not available elsewhere.

Maj. Gen. Buck Lanham, who was General Eisenhower's press agent in Ike's last command abroad before he ran for president, was all cut and bruised when he detached himself from little Davey. They were entwined in an enterprise called Market Relations Network, which, Lanham said, was a silly name signifying nothing.

But when Buck told Davey he would need a year to write such a book, Davey sat down to a typewriter, spat on his hands and banged out a first chapter of half a pack of cigarettes.

Nazi-Soviet Pact's History Rewritten by Khrushchev

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev has again undertaken to rewrite history. Sensitive to the charge that Stalin and the Communist party, by an alliance with Hitler in 1939, made World War 2 possible, the Soviet Premier now brazenly tells the people of Poland that the Soviets did all this "just to buy time."

Millions of Russians and Poles lost their lives because Stalin chose to make Hitler his ally and thus, by protecting the Eastern front for the Nazis, gave them a free hand on the Western Front against France and Britain in the first years of World War 2.

But Khrushchev now says he was present when Stalin committed his act of perfidy in making an alliance with Hitler and that this action was fully justified. One wonders how the Soviet Premier dares to say this today to the very people of Poland who, as a consequence thereof, lost their independence.

Just why Khrushchev brought up the Soviet-Nazi alliance at this time isn't clear, but it seems probable that he is smarting under the charges made earlier this year by the United States government in an "official analysis" of the Nov. 27, 1958, note from the Soviets about Berlin.

The Soviets had alleged that, prior to World War 2, they had "displayed constant willingness to establish co-operation with the other powers with the object of resisting Hitlerite aggression" and that "if the Western powers had not been shortsighted in their hopes of turning Hitler eastward and had co-operated with the USSR, millions of lives would have been saved."

The Department of State, in answering this fantastic distortion of the facts of history, said: "From 1930 to 1933 the Soviet Union sought an international Communist arm, the Comintern, directed the German Communist party to collaborate with the Nazis and other extremists in undermining the German Weimar Republic. It helped sabotage democratic parties and institutions and promoted lawlessness and disorder. This aided Hitler's rise to absolute power."

"The U. S. S. R. turned aside from negotiations with the United Kingdom and France in August, 1939, and concluded the Molotov-Ribbentrop agreements which provided the necessary guarantees for co-ordinated Nazi-Soviet aggression in Eastern Europe and resulted in World War II.

Warnings Recalled
"In spite of warnings from the Western powers of impending German attack, the Soviet government aided Nazi Germany until Hitler marched against it in (June) 1941.

"In April, 1941, the U. S. S. R. signed a neutrality pact with the Japanese ally of Hitler, thereby clearing the way for the Pearl Harbor attack on the United States on Dec. 7, 1941."

Thus it is clearly demonstrated that the Stalin action caused many millions of Allied citizens to become casualties in the war. Notwithstanding Stalin's behavior, the United States promptly sent a vast amount of war materials to aid the Soviet armies when Hitler did attack Russia. In view of this action, there has been no more flagrant example of ingratitude in world history. For, ever since 1945, the Soviet government has turned on its own Western allies who saved the Soviet people from the Nazis. Today, however, war is being threatened by the Soviets against the West because it does not accept the demands of Communist imperialism.

While Nikita Khrushchev is rewriting history during his trip to Poland, it may not be amiss to remind him and the Polish people of these exultant words that Molotov — Stalin's mouthpiece — uttered on Oct. 31, 1939:

"However, one swift blow to Poland, first by the German and then by the Red Army, and nothing was left of this ugly offspring of the Versailles Treaty which had existed by oppressing non-Polish nationalities."

Foreign Minister Molotov went on to say that "Germany is in the position of a state that is striving for the earliest termination of the war and for peace, while Britain and France, which but yesterday were declaring against aggression, are in favor of continuing the war."

But Great Britain and France did go to war to uphold their agreement to guarantee the integrity of Poland. Likewise, when Stalin was warned of the Hitler game, he ignored the warnings of Britain and the United States. Here's what the American document of last January says on this point:

"In March, 1941, the United States on two occasions warned the USSR that it had received authentic information that Nazi Germany planned to attack the Soviet Union, and Prime Minister Churchill warned Stalin to the same effect in late April. But the USSR had just shown its continued solidarity with Hitler by signing, on April 13, 1941, a neutrality pact with the Japanese partner of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis, thus clearing the way for Pearl Harbor."

What sort of "time" was Stalin buying between September, 1939, and June, 1941? He himself never withdrew from the pact with the Nazis. He was forced to abandon it solely because Hitler decided to attack Soviet Russia after the Nazis had conquered France and were in military control of the European continent. The people of Poland at least ought to be given the facts over the radio while "Czar" Nikita is touring their land.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 17—The Dow-Jones Industrial Average is today about 660, compared with 350 five years ago and 170 ten years ago. Therefore, it is dangerous for one who does not have conservative recommendations from a long-established service, or from a trusted bank or brokerage official, to invest money today in common stocks. Like a trapeze artist in a circus, the higher up he gets, the more dangerous is his fall.

Bonds Versus Stocks

In view of the continued threat of inflation, I am not now advising my friends to have all their funds in bonds—even though bonds now yield much more than stocks. This applies not only to long-term bonds but also to short-term issues. Witness the recent issuance of one-year Treasury bills to yield 4 1/2%.

My father, who was a country banker in Gloucester, Massachusetts, used to tell me that preferred stocks are neither "fish nor fowl," "hay nor grass." As a rule, such stocks are redeemed if the company is successful, and wiped out if the company fails. This, however, was before Franklin D. Roosevelt squeezed the water out of the utilities and when they were very competitive. Today, for income and safety, I believe that First Preferred Cumulative Utility Stocks are worthy of purchase, especially if issued by the local company to which you pay a monthly bill. If by any chance you can find such a local stock which is also either convertible or nonconvertible, it is especially attractive.

Future of Electric Power

Whatever happens during the next few years, the output of electricity will continue to increase. This is due both to the fact that the cost of generating electricity is gradually decreasing and also to the fact that demand by municipalities, industries, and homes is constantly increasing.

Most readers of my column have seen house heating change from the use of coal to that oil and gas. I believe that our grandchildren will see electricity take the place of oil and gas. This electricity will supply heat in the winter and air conditioning in the summer, as well as operate many home appliances not yet invented.

We do not see much advertising of electric power; but the newspapers are full of ads for all kinds of electric appliances—often with no down payment required. This means that there are hundreds of thousands of dealers who are selling electric appliances which will use electricity. No other industry is in such a favorable situation—with a monopoly, in addition. Although the rates of electric power are controlled by State Commissions, these Commissions allow rates which will pay the interest on bonds and the dividends on preferred stocks. Electric power companies are safest from labor troubles, which are destined to become more serious with all other industries. When going crazy about "electronics" stocks, remember that electronics always depends upon and uses electricity.

Long Dividend Records

When a reader wants a stock for income, he is interested in the number of years that the company has paid dividends. As the electric utilities are young, they have not generally had a long record. Many insurance companies, gas companies, and the like have been paying dividends for about a hundred years. For instance, the New Haven Gas Company has been paying dividends for 110 years; the Travelers Insurance has been paying for 96 years; the New Haven Water Company 82 years; and the Home Insurance Company, in which I am a great believer, for 86 years.

The following are a few other such companies coming to my memory. Their stocks are all common shares as preferreds did not exist so long ago. The Aetna (Fire) Insurance Company has paid dividends for 87 consecutive years; the Hartford Fire Insurance, 87 years; National Fire Insurance, 88 years; Phoenix Insurance, 86 years; Southern New England Telephone, 69 years; and the Security Insurance for 66 years.

Dismissal Denied Of $100,000 Suit Against Snyder

A motion to dismiss a $100,000 damage action brought by Ward K. Jansen of Stone Ridge against Andrew J. Snyder, Century Cement Mfg. Co., Inc., of Rosendale and John J. Kelly, has been denied by Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm.

Jansen brought an action for damages alleging fraud by the defendants in the purchase of his property in 1954. The defendants by their attorney, N. Le Van Haver, and John E. Egan of counsel, moved at special term in Albany to dismiss the plaintiff's complaint on the grounds that it failed to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action against these defendants.

Philip Korn, Kerhonkson attorney, appeared for plaintiff and opposed the motion.

Charges Scheme by Two

The action arises out of the sale of Mr. Jansen's property to John J. Kelly, who allegedly was acting for and on behalf of Andrew J. Snyder and Century Cement Mfg. Co., Inc.

The complaint in substance alleges that the defendants acted in a scheme and conspiracy to purchase the plaintiff's property, knowing that it contained valuable minerals and cement products under the surface. Mr. Jansen complained that the defendants represented that they wished to buy the land only for a summer camp by John J. Kelly.

Thereafter, as set forth in the complaint, Jansen transferred his property to Kelly, who in turn transferred the property to Andrew J. Snyder acting for the Century Cement Mfg. Co., Inc. It is alleged that the cement company has moved in equipment and is milling and extracting valuable cement from the former Jansen property.

Says Facts Sufficient

In upholding the complaint and the right of the plaintiff to bring this lawsuit, the Court held that as a matter of law the complaint did state sufficient facts against each of the defendants and that the motion by the defendants to dismiss the complaint should be denied.

In the decision of Justice Hamm he says in part:

"The defendants state that the theory of the plaintiff's action is that they concealed from the plaintiff the special value of his property, of which he was ignorant, and falsely represented to him that they desired to acquire it for a summer camp, when, in truth, they acquired it for the purpose of the corporate defendant. However, there is an element in this case in addition to concealment of value and false statement of the purpose for which the land was desired. The complaint alleged that the plaintiff desired to retain a portion of the land that false representations were made 'that the piece sought to be retained by the plaintiff and the small amount of shale contained thereon was not of any value; and that the land was simply of a farm or grazing land.' A jury could find that without this representation the plaintiff would not have conveyed the parcel which he in fact did convey."

Loss From Steel Strike Mounting

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel production loss mounted toward 100 million dollars today in the third day of the nationwide steel strike. No end to the crippling shutdown is in sight.

Many more millions in wages have been lost by 500,000 striking United Steelworkers, quietly manning picket lines at darkened mills.

Negotiations Stalled

Losses on both sides will grow steadily. The negotiations front is static.

There's little optimism on the part of strikers, the steel industry or the government that the contract stalemate can be resolved quickly. Neither the industry nor the union has given any sign of retreating from its stand.

Federal-mediation efforts in the dispute will be renewed in New York Monday.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers, told pickets at the Bethlehem Steel Corp. plant in Bethlehem, Pa., "We meet with the government on Monday, but I don't know whether it will do any good. Up to this point, we have been meeting nothing but messenger boys."

90 PC Shut Off

The strike at Tuesday night shut off nearly 90 per cent of the country's steelmaking capacity, representing about 300,000 tons of ingot steel daily.

Weekly production loss to the industry is estimated at 300 million dollars. The loss to strikers in wages is calculated at 70 million dollars a week.

In addition, allied industries such as coal and transportation have felt the strike keenly. About 25,000 workers have been idled due to business cutbacks.

Negotiations foundered on the union's demand for increased wages and improved fringe benefits, the industry's steadfast refusal to make any concessions that would raise labor costs.

Steelworkers had been averaging $3.10 an hour before the strike.

Stalemate Marks

One of the 12 hospitals, Our Lady of Victory in nearby Lackawanna, withdrew from the hospital's negotiating committee. The decision was based on "many factors and reasons," a spokesman for the hospital said.

He said the hospital would continue to negotiate with the union separately.

Deadline Monday

The strike deadline, postponed from Monday, has been set for 7 a. m. next Monday.

James L. Kane, president of the Buffalo AFL-CIO Council, heads the union organizing committee, which claims 1,700 supporters among the 4,000 housekeeping employees at nine hospitals in Buffalo and one each in Lackawanna, Kenmore and North Tonawanda.

The union has asked for a 40-hour week, $1.15 minimum with a 10 per cent raise in six months, plus union recognition.

The hospitals have offered a 40-hour week, $1 minimum and grievance machinery, but have refused to recognize a union, saying that non-profit institutions are exempt from the law requiring collective bargaining.

in shallow water when suddenly they disappeared, when apparently Nixon stepped over an underwater ledge. Nixon had represented to Mann that he could swim.

Had Hold of Pair

As Mann observed the couple struggling in the water he said they were "obviously in trouble," each holding on the other and pulling each other down under the water. Once Mann was able to grab them but had to let go when they nearly pulled him under. After they had come to the surface several times he was able to push a log to them but they were unable to grasp it. Mann went to Highway 55 and attempted to stop passing cars. Two cars passed without stopping, apparently believing Mann was seeking a hitch. Mann finally notified Benjamin Yeager on the Oak Ridge Road and state police at Ellenville were summoned and the Ellenville First Aid Squad also responded. After nearly an hour of attempting to revive the couple, Dr. Rosenstock pronounced them dead and in the absence of Coroner Arthur C. Chipp who was out of town, Coroner Francis J. McCordie of Kingston issued a verdict of accidental drowning.

Funeral Is Sunday

The bodies were turned over to the Loucks Funeral Home in Ellenville. Nixon, a student at the Ellenville Central High School, was born in New York City July 26, 1943, son of David and Marjorie Jones Nixon. He was a member of the Church of Christ of Ellenville. Besides his parents he is survived by three brothers, David L., Robert E., Preston W., and three sisters, Marjorie, Phyllis and Valerie Nixon. Several aunts and uncles also survive.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Loucks Funeral Home, Ellenville. Burial will be in Pine Bush Cemetery, Kerhonkson.

Miss Willis had been in Ellenville only about 2 1/2 months and her former home was unknown. Efforts to locate relatives in both Boston and Philadelphia were being made today. Funeral arrangements were incomplete, pending location of her family.

Shouted for Help

Otto Schwarze, a waiter at the 21 Club in New York, had been at Rosendale about two weeks. His wife was to have joined him today. Shortly after lunch he went to the swimming hole on the Rondout back of St. Peter's Church. At the time there were several children swimming at the spot. About 2 p. m. after Schwarze had been swimming for a time he shouted he was "going down," and disappeared under the water. Several of the children at the scene went to the village to seek aid. Joseph Mastro, Main Street, Rosendale, went to the scene and recovered the body about 20 feet from shore. State police were notified and Trooper George Gaine of the Kingston station responded. Coroner McCordie was also summoned and issued a verdict of accidental drowning. The body was taken in charge by the Moylan Funeral Home in Rosendale and later turned over to the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home for transfer to New York.

POTSDAM, N. Y. (AP) — Lloyd McHugh and J. C. Lalonde of Alexandria, Ont., have purchased the 60-room Arlington Inn here for a price reported unofficially at $191,000.

commission, must approve changes in specifications.

An eligibility list for appointment of sergeants is now in effect. It lists as candidates for promotion, officers Bernard Fowler and William Snyder. It has been indicated that civil service tests for appointment of patrolmen and possibly promotional examinations will be held in the fall.

To Write Commendations

The board approved sending letters of recommendation to Patrolman John Crespiro and Detective Charles McCullough for their recent rescue of a man who threatened to jump from a roof on Livingston Street, and to commend Officer Frank Stip for courteous treatment in this city were said.

The letters to Crespiro and McCullough are to be signed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and the police commissioners.

Commissioner Lawrence A. Quilty reported the formation of a police department pistol team with 31 officers participating. It is planned, he said, to have the team compete with others in the state, including the crack New York State Police team, which is outstanding in the nation.

Stip Is Praised

The two letters commending Stip mentioned only Shield 29, which is worn by him. Attorney Howard Weinberger, of 200 West 57th Street, New York, said he was impressed with the "courtesy and helpfulness" of the officer, and Charles Gordon, of 149 Broadway, New York, a sales representative of a Philadelphia appraisal firm, in a longer letter, in effect, said the same.

Gordon indicated that he had slightly exceeded the speed limit and was told courteously about safe driving. Officer Stip's action and attitude, he said, was "proof positive that your fine police force does not operate on any quota of arrests."

Best Wishes for Clergyman

The board extended best wishes to the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, a commissioner, who is due to leave with his annual caravan to Acapulco, Mexico.

Acting Chief Robert F. Murphy in his report to the board reported 247 arrests in June, and 34 persons injured in 23 traffic mishaps. The total in arrests was 50 above that of May, and the number hurt in accidents last month doubled May's total of 17.

160 Traffic Arrests

Of the June arrests 160 were for traffic offenses, 53 for public intoxication, 9 for disorderly conduct, six for third degree assault, four each for issuance of fraudulent checks and cruelty to animals, and one each for second degree burglary, third degree rape, and endangering health of a child and malicious mischief.

Of those arrested, 110 paid fines, 63 received suspended sentences, nine went to jail, five forfeited bail, five charges were withdrawn, 12 were discharged, two cases went to the grand jury, and 41 are pending.

Of those injured in traffic accidents, two were pedestrians, 24 hurt in collisions of two or more vehicles, five were hurt when cars struck fixed objects, and three were involved in bicycle-automobile mishaps.

The State Legislative Affairs Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce consists of Posen of IBM, chairman; Joseph Babiarz, local Greyhound Lines agent; P. J. Beichert, garage owner and car dealer of Port Jervis; John W. Egbert, district manager of the New York Telephone Co.; H. L. Etchells, assistant plant manager of the Hercules Powder Co.; David L. Fletcher, proprietor of the Photo Workshop; Harry Gold, attorney; Dr. G. P. Gorman, physician; Severn Hasbrouck, farmer; Peter Keresman, retired secretary of the State Patrolman's Association; Andrew Kozak, manager of the F. W. Woolworth Co.; Lawrence J. MacAvery, realtor; Arthur W. Patterson, accountant and local manager of the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co.; Anthony G. Saccomani, owner of Saccomani's Jewelers and George J. ## Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy and a bunch of Soviet athletes will highlight television's network programs during the next seven days. Both will turn up on Sunday.

First, NBC will provide live and tape coverage of the international track meet between the Soviet Union and the United States from Franklin Field, Philadelphia Sunday afternoon.

Later, Ed Sullivan on CBS will show filmed highlights of Gian Carlo Menotti's "Festival of Two Worlds," which recently took place in Spoleto. On the Sullivan show will be Sir John Gielgud, doing Shakespeare, and American soprano Eileen Farrell doing not only classical songs but swinging "Sunny Side of the Street."

Saturday, Peggy King will plug the hole left by Teresa Brewer's departure from the Perry Presents show. At the same time on ABC, Jubilee U.S.A. will present, among others, folk singer Jimmie Davis, once governor of Louisiana.

Sunday, Meet the Press will start a series of interviews with state governors by questioning New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller. ABC's Maverick will repeat its interesting revised version of Sheridan's classic, "The Rivals." And if you don't mind reruns, General Electric Theater is putting on that incredible half-hour boil-down of Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" with Maurice Evans and Piper Laurie.

Monday is generally a day of repeats but next week Arlene Francis will be a one-night substitute for Jack Paar on NBC. Andy Williams' guests on Tuesday evening (CBS) will be Denny Laine, Andy Griffith, singer June Valli and a choral group called The Bohemians.

ABC's "Music for a Summer Night" Wednesday will be a tribute to the waltz while Dave King's guest on NBC will be singer Anita Darian.

Farm Income May Be 10 PC Less Than Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm income for 1959 may well turn out to be 10 per cent less than last year.

Such a reduction was indicated Thursday by an Agriculture Department report that farmers' realized net income — amount left after paying expenses — in the first half of 1959 was 8 per cent lower than in the first half of 1958.

Prospects for even lower farm prices and higher farm production costs during the last half of the year point to a possible greater reduction in income for the full year.

The department said income during the first half of the year was at the annual rate of 12 billion dollars, down one billion from a year earlier, but up one billion from the annual rate in the first half of 1957.

Contributing to the decline this year were smaller government payments, lower farm prices and higher prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in farm production.

Attacks Could Be Factor in '60

Johnson, Ike Display Same Restraint Answering Critics

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the keys to Sen. Lyndon Johnson, leader of the Senate Democrats, is what he says his daddy told him.

The tall Texan says his 'daddy' told him: "The three most important words in the English language are: 'Wait a minute.' You can tell a man to go to hell but the trouble is you can't make him go."

Mad Enough . . . But So, Johnson said: "I've been mad enough sometimes in the Senate to tell someone to go take a running jump. But I didn't. I couldn't make him go. And the next day he'd still be around but he'd be less irritated at me then."

This may explain in part why Johnson hasn't struck back savagely at his critics, of whom there have been quite a number this year.

Strangely, whether or not President Eisenhower's daddy gave him the same advice, Eisenhower has followed the same policy as Johnson.

Eisenhower has carefully avoided personal attacks, anger at an individual, or statements that would make someone mad at him personally. Ironically and unintentionally the attacks on Johnson—whatever their reason—may be a big factor in getting him consideration for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Focuses More Attention The reason, by focusing on him more attention than he might otherwise get for his methods, his performance and his political philosophy, which can be described as moderate. He calls himself a "prudent progressive."

Until this year Johnson, probably the smoothest Senate leader in this century and certainly one of the least noisy, had an almost magic existence, free of criticism. No wonder. That advice his daddy gave him was calculated to avoid making enemies.

Then from the least suspected source—a comparative newcomer in the Senate—the first shot was fired. Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) belabored Johnson for what he called too much one-man rule.

He complained Johnson didn't consult his fellow Democrats enough on the legislation to be passed. A small handful of Democrats echoed Proxmire. Johnson waited a minute. When he did reply, he was very mild.

Then in one-two-three-four order Johnson and his fellow Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, leader of the House Democrats, got a pasting.

First to let go at Democratic leadership in Congress was the Democratic National Committee's advisory council, made up of prominent Democrats; then Americans for Democratic Action; then the National Committee for an Effective Congress; then Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman.

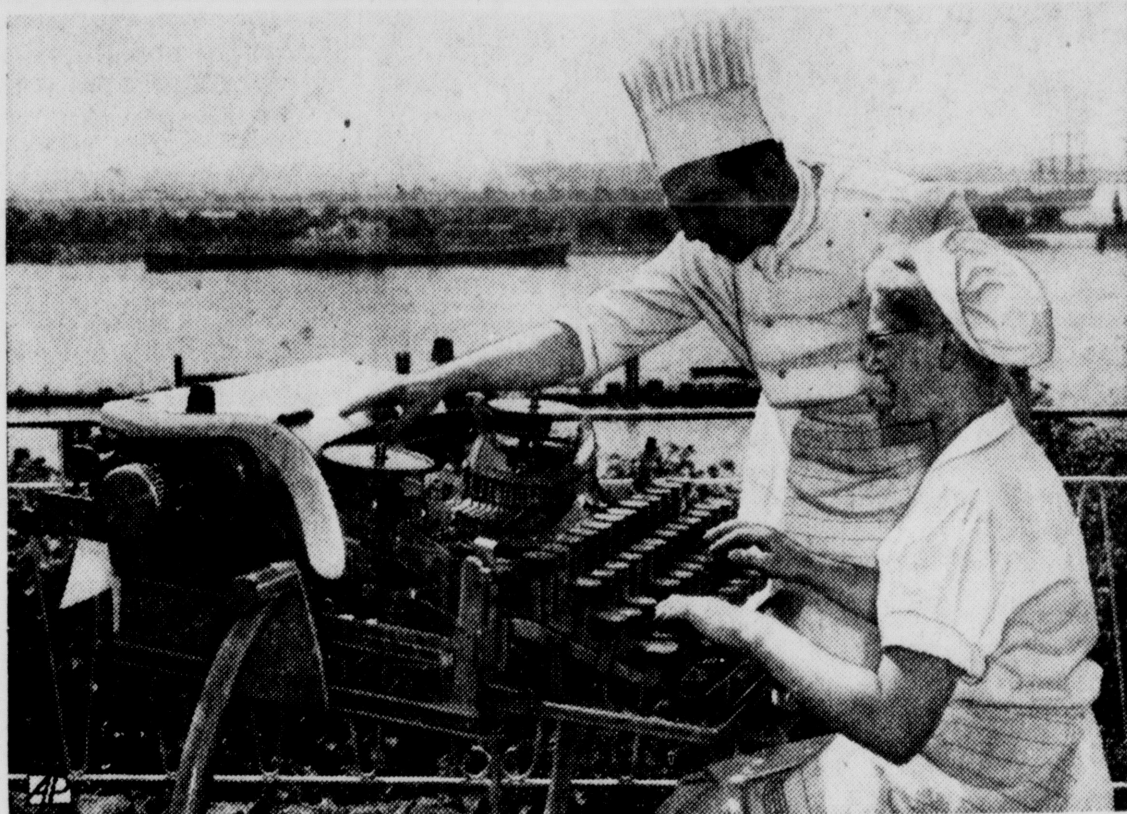

His Reaction Is Mild Boiling down to what they all said, this was the complaint: That the Democratic leadership in Congress wasn't fighting for bigger programs which, if Eisenhower vetoed them, would make campaign issues in 1960, and was playing too much ball with Eisenhower.

Johnson's reaction — his public reaction—that is—was again pretty mild, something in the nature of "Aw, fellows, come around some other time; don't you see I have a lot of work to do?"

What he said was: He felt his job was to get through as much legislation as possible and not waste time trying to create issues.

At the 1960 Democratic convention no Southern segregationist has a chance for the presidential nomination. Johnson, although a Southerner, can't be put in that class. In 1957 he steered through the Senate the first civil rights bill in this century.

If the Northern Democratic liberals fail to put over one of their choices and the choice has to be on a middle-of-the-roader — someone not too distasteful to either Southerners or liberals—the attention Johnson's critics have heaped on him may come in very handy.

Man Jailed 22 Years in Kidnap Case Is Suicide

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Ailing and depressed after 22 years in jail for his part in a famed kidnapping case, Percy Geary killed himself Thursday by leaping under the wheels of a moving truck inside the federal penitentiary here.

He was the third suicide among the men convicted for the 1933 kidnapping of John J. O'Connell, member of a family prominent in politics in Albany, where Geary lived.

O'Connell, who since has died, was released on payment of $40,000 ransom. He was the nephew of Daniel P. O'Connell, Democratic leader of Albany County.

Geary and others in the kidnap ring were arrested in 1937. He escaped from Onondaga County penitentiary in Syracuse, N. Y., after his conviction but was recaptured within a few days.

Geary was sentenced to 77 years in the kidnapping and received another five years for the break.

Two other men convicted with him hanged themselves in prison. Three have been paroled. Three others are still in jail.

Geary threw himself under a truck inside the prison compound, Warden Fred T. Wilkinson reported. He said he believed Geary was depressed because of long confinement and recent ailments.

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — The Rev. Carl Hartman, pastor of Plattekill and Rossville Methodist Churches, officiated at funeral services for Mrs. Yvonne V. Stap, 70, at Wallkill on Monday.

Mrs. Stap died Saturday, July 11, after a short illness, at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

A native of Lille, France, Mrs. Stap had lived in Wallkill for many years.

She is survived by her husband, Frederick G. L. Stap, a daughter, Mrs. Allen Harvey of Scarsdale; three sons, Robert F. Stap of Newburgh, RD.; Frederick Stap of Santa Monica, Calif.; Leon Stap at home; a sister, four brothers and eight grandchildren.

Burial was in New Hurley Cemetery.

Members of the Plattekill and Rossville Methodist Churches held their annual picnic at Midway Park, Bentons Corners on Sunday.

A worship service was conducted at 11 a. m., a picnic dinner at 12 noon, and an afternoon of recreational amusements, including swimming, games and races.

Explorer IV May Fall This Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The next earth satellite scheduled to die, the U.S. Explorer IV, may tumble to destruction in the atmospheric blanket late this month.

But the Soviet Sputnik III now appears set to remain in orbit at least into December or several months longer than was first anticipated.

These developments came to light in the wake of Thursday's launch-pad destruction of what was to have been America's newest satellite, the 91½-pound Explorer VI.

When Explorer IV was launched at Cape Canaveral, Fla., last July 26, scientists estimated it would remain in orbit about a year.

Three other U.S. satellites are still in orbit around the earth.

Will Hold Hearings On Supplying Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission will open hearings Sept. 1 on competing applications to supply natural gas to the Massena-Ogdensburg area of New York State.

The applications were filed by the St. Lawrence Gas Co. of Ogdensburg and the New York State Natural Gas Corp. of Pittsburgh. The commission announced yesterday the date of the hearing.

St. Lawrence proposes to import gas from Canada through a transmission line at the international boundary at Massena.

New York Natural Gas is seeking permission to deliver gas to the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. of New York for resale in the area. New York State Natural Gas receives its supply through transmission lines from the southwestern United States.

St. Lawrence Gas and Niagara Mohawk have applied to the Public Service Commission of New York for permission to serve the St. Lawrence Valley area. No decision has been reached on which company will receive the franchise.

Niagara Mohawk purchases gas from New York State Natural Gas for resale in areas now served by the New York utility.

In the federal application, New York State Natural Gas is asking permission to sell additional gas to Niagara Mohawk for the St. Lawrence Valley area, which comprises St. Lawrence, Lewis and Franklin Counties.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Today folks are going in for outdoor eating and having their own garden. Going back to a letter written by Ensign Smitt of Esopus to the director-general dated May 12, 1660 shows what could be grown here successfully.

It reads in part: "I have to inform your honor in regard to the spring corn, which we sowed, that Thomas Chambers has 100 shepels of barley and peas in the ground, and Jurryaen Westphalen, your honor's farmer, has in the ground 100 shepels of spring wheat and barley, as well as peas and oats and Cornelis Barentsen Slecht 50 shepels of spring wheat, nine of peas and a few of barley, and the widow Stoll 45 shepels of spring wheat, 12 shepels of barley, and four of peas. So that altogether 320 shepels of spring grain have been sowed. Thomas Chambers has also sowed 70 shepels of winter wheat and Cornelis Barentsen Slecht 20 shepels of winter wheat, and it has come up nicely in the fields."

No doubt much was learned from the Indians in cultivation, implements, etc. Today museums are full of the Indian tools, utensils and implements. They made their dishes from stone, wood, gourds, clay and even turtle shells. Spoons and knives they made from bone, shells and wood. Pails and boxes were made from birch bark made watertight by sealing the seams with pitch; baskets were woven from reeds, grass or wooden strips.

The Badger Paper Mills Inc., of Peshigo, Wisc., has an illustrated advertisement out this month on the Indian as America's original industrial designers, with interesting illustrations. No doubt some of these have been found around here, such as birch bark maple sap pail, woven storage basket, elm bark harvest box, clam shell spoon, clay water jar etc.

If you are an amateur gardener try a clam shell and you will find it the handiest tool imaginable. During the time of the colonists and the Indians those were the days before professional fertilizers and bug killers. The first American agriculturists learned from the Indians that dead fish helped nature fertilize their growing plants. The Indians showed the white man how to plant corn, beans, pumpkins, melons and other vegetables. Those were also years before mail-order catalogues and seed catalogues and sporting goods stores, the red man and white man through their hit and miss system of gardening, hunting and fishing were still able to put food on their family table.

The Indians had their bow and arrow, their spears and clubs and the white man had his gun. Both had their traps, nets and fishing tackle, and so the wild fowl, fish and game were brought home. The Indians knew their herbs and growing plants to use when ill. They knew how to make fire without a match and how and what to cook without a cookbook. I wonder what the Indians would say if they saw all the modern equipment it now takes to cook a simple hot dog outdoors.

Perhaps at some county or state fair someday they will have a group of Indians cooking old style and alongside a modern patio with all the modern equipment for outdoor cooking at work. In those days men hunted and fished and the women worked the ground and cooked. Men are now going for outdoor cooking in a big way. The Indians did fine without the wheel in any form. It took the white man to invent the wheel and then things really started to roll.

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—If you can manage to wear a thousand-dollar ball gown with the casual air you'd have in a five-dollar house dress, you've achieved the fashion stance of the year.

The most opulent and expensive fabrics seen since the court of Louis XIV are used in this fall's fashions, being presented this week before the nation's fashion press, by now almost blinded by the general magnificence of the scenes.

Probably the peak performance of the day was given by Roxane, the small, silver-blond and self-effacing designer for Samuel Winston, who feels about fabrics the way most women feel about diamonds and mink.

An example is a simply cut afternoon dress of dark olive green guipure lace which, Winston announced, cost him $156 a yard. The price of the dress is $800—a Texas buyer has ordered it in all colors.

For lounging around the house, Roxane advocates dazzling "rajah" pajamas, with tunic tops of gold or silver encrusted brocade and slim, cuffed pants of matching satin. These will set you back about $200.

Colors run rampant through the Winston collection, both in daytime tailored suits and ensembles and in lavish after-5 outfits. In the suit lineup are lush wools in such colors as olive green, seaweed, citron, cerise, henna and of course scarlet, many with blouse or sweater tops of a new sheet knit called "chanka," dyed to match exactly. Also shown are tops of a slightly fuzzier sheer knit mohair, called "etchachan."

Set Library Fair At Stone Ridge Saturday, July 25

The annual Stone Ridge Library Fair will be held Saturday, July 25 at the library starting at 10:30 a. m., Mrs. Paul Sturges, general chairman announced today.

The library will have a sale on farm fresh vegetables, homemade pastries, preserves and jellies and fine needlework.

Several thousand books, old and new will also be on sale, and a large assortment of records.

The large barn at the rear of the library will be used for display and sale of antique furniture, china and silver.

Ten Ulster County dealers are cooperating with the committee in charge of this part of the fair.

Among the more than 2,000 items offered for sale will be an unusual collection of antique dolls and nursery furniture, early Ulster County memorabilia including maps, charts, primitive paintings and a rare collection of 18th and 19th century jewelry. A large Roessen still life will also be on sale.

For the children there will be supervised games and a children's art contest.

The Stone Ridge library building recently completely redecorated in authentic colonial colors will be open for inspection. There will also be a tour of five old stone houses dating from the colonial era.

Refreshments will be available on the premises.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST
Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

DUTY TO HOUSE GUESTS

Dear Mrs. Post: I invited friends to come and spend their vacation with us. They plan to arrive in two weeks. In this morning's mail, we received an invitation to the wedding and reception of the daughter of very dear friends of ours. It so happens that the wedding will take place during their visit. I would like very much to go to the wedding, but I am wondering if it would be proper to leave them, or must we decline the invitation.

Answer: If, as it seems from your letter, these friends are to stay with you for a week or more, it will be entirely proper for you to go to the wedding. You of course should try to see that your guests will have something else to do while you are away.

Figuring the Waiter's Tip

Dear Mrs. Post: In figuring a tip for a waiter, should it be a certain per cent of the dinner bill before the tax has been added, or on the total amount? Now that the new dinner tax has gone into effect, this can make a considerable difference—especially on a large check. This question has come up among some of my friends and there were divided opinions on it, so will you please set us straight. Also, should a tip be figured on the entire bill—including drinks, or on food only.

Answer: The tip should be figured before the tax is added, but on the entire bill including drinks. If you have wine and it is served by a sommelier or wine steward, you tip him a percentage of its cost and you may reduce what you give the waiter by a like amount.

At the Funeral Services

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in bad taste for the women members of the deceased's family to wear make-up at the funeral services?

Answer: A little make-up is not in bad taste, but enough to be noticeable most certainly would be.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-7, entitled "Wedding Anniversaries," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, PO Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Laura D. DeCicco and Donald Wolff Are Wed Sunday, July 12; Will Reside in Kingston

MR. AND MRS. DONALD WOLFF (Photo Workshop photo)

Miss Laura D. DeCicco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. DeCicco of 498 Delaware Avenue, and Donald Wolff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wolff of 83 West Union Street, were married with a double ring ceremony Sunday, July 12, 2 p. m., at the Barn by Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan of Sawkill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale blue embroidered organza gown with a fitted bodice in Empire fashion and a full waltz length skirt. She wore a matching crown of stylized flowers and carried a nosegay of white roses with blue delphiniums and baby's breath.

Miss Phyllis Wolff, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor in a romance blue gown styled identically to the bride's gown. She wore a matching crown of nylon braid and baby's breath.

Best man was Lawrence Skura of Kingston.

A reception for the immediate family followed at the Barn.

For a wedding trip to Miami, Fla., Mrs. Wolff chose a white summer suit with red accessories and an orchid corsage. On their return the couple will reside at 498 Delaware Avenue.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wolff are graduates of Kingston High School and are employed by IBM.

World's annual diamond production would fill about 75 bushel baskets. Most diamonds are mined in South Africa.

These Are Both City and Leisure Silks

The ways of summer living are many, some busy and some easy and relaxed. Most of us combine business and pleasure in the summer and dress for both roles. For business, there's this fitted dress of pure silk shirting (left), hairline striped in black on white. Collar of this coachman dress is black velvet and so is the trim on the belt. For terrace living in city or country, there's this dress with foreign sports car pattern in black-and-white on pure silk. Skirt is silk-shaped, a brand new cut. Domino design, again in black-and-white pure silk (right), makes a simple but stunning summer dress. It's a shirtwaist dress with sleeveless top. All designs shown here are by Nat Kaplan. Clothes like these are the precious jewels of any wardrobe.

Decline in Membership Jolts Annual Foundation Awards

A special membership meeting of the Woodstock Foundation has been called for Tuesday, July 21, at 5 p. m. to discuss the serious question of dwindling membership which is jeopardizing the annual Foundation Awards program.

The Foundation trustees have asked the president to call this special meeting to discuss ways and means of averting a collapse of the program which has been in effect for 12 years.

Any person, member or non-member who is interested in furthering the Foundation's traditional aims and/or in taking part in this year's theatrical presentation is urged to join in this launching affair. At this same meeting, certain vacancies on the Board of Trustees will be filled from the membership.

A member, by the way, is any person who has contributed time and/or money to the work of the Foundation. Persons attending the above meeting will be eligible for immediate membership and may take part in all phases of the agenda.

Awards Help Many

Other business in addition to enrollment of members and election of trustees will be a decision on what kind of show will be produced this year. Anyone with any scripts, plays, musicals or other material on hand will be welcome to present their ideas at this time. Past performances have shown that virtually every talent is needed in putting the production together.

For the past 12 years the Woodstock Foundation has been putting on various theatrical productions at the local playhouse and using the proceeds to further the studies of township and Maverick individuals professionally engaged in any of the arts and crafts.

These proceeds have been divided into a limited number of cash awards which have, in turn, been granted annually to artists who have made themselves candidates for such awards. However, the 1959 awards may not be forthcoming because of an apparent lack of interest on the part of the membership in launching the September playhouse production.

Teiji Ito and Jazz Virtuosi At Colony Arts Center Tonite

Teiji Ito, composer of film and ballet scores, musician and drummer, has brought authentic natives instruments of Japan,

Bali, India, Haiti and Africa to the Colony Arts Center for a week-end of lectures, drum classes and music.

The evening lectures on Friday and Saturday, July 17 and 18, at 8:45, will include a demonstration of Hindu rhythms on tablas; Balinese gamelan; Japanese Kubuki percussion; screening of the "Constant Geisha," an art film with Ito's Kubuki score; also modern percussion for film and theatre. On Saturday evening, it will be assisted by five drummers who will demonstrate Haitian Rhythms—poly-rhythmic structure, role in Voodoo religion; secular West Indies beats: rumba, Carnival and Congo.

In the mornings and afternoons of the same days, there will be drum classes, which will include Haitian Rhythmic and Cuban Secular Drums. This will give students an opportunity to learn the basic rumba, bolero, cha-cha-cha beats for the Conga drum, bongos, claves, maracas and quirda.

On Saturday evening after Ito's program, there will be a jam session and dance with Ito and his group of jazz virtuosi.

Something for young people will be the theme of next week's programs at The Colony Arts Center when Mildred Osgood will present her marionette theatre for three days, July 23, 24 and 25. Evening performances will be given on July 23 and matinee performances on the 24 and 25. Included in the program will be a color motion picture in a marionette story, titled "Jonathan's Magic."

Miss Osgood is a well known creator of marionette figures and has taught the art of making marionettes as a professor in the drama department of State Teachers' College, Montclair, New Jersey. Groups interested in making up special parties to attend the marionettes performances should contact The Colony Arts Center early for reservations.

Weekly Gallery Evening Tonight

The weekly Gallery Evening of the Woodstock Artists Association will take place this evening at 8:30 p. m. Featured will be another popular panel discussion, the theme being "What Is Art Form?"

The panel includes several interesting people, well known in their particular fields. Carol Summers, print maker, is at present on a Guggenheim Foundation Award in his field of printmaking. Lynfield Ott, representing the field of painting, is a well-known Woodstocker. Kenneth Green, ceramist, teaches ceramics at the State Teachers College in New Paltz, but has exhibited throughout the county and won numerous awards for his art.

Kurt Matzdoff, who also teaches at New Paltz, is a famous silversmith, best known in the local area for his fine tiles showing 13 Tribes of Israel, made especially for the new Temple Emanuel in Kingston. The fact that this popular craftsman has his work handled by the noted house of George Jensen, Fifth Avenue, New York, speaks highly for his skill and technical ability.

Such a group promises an evening of high interest. The general public is welcome to these evenings. There is a nominal admission charge.

Rev. W. D. Jones

The Rev. William David Jones, priest-in-charge of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church for the summer, has taken an apartment in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Long of Maple Lane, Woodstock, where he will be joined by Mrs. Jones, coming to this country from Wales in the early part of August.

11th Annual Event

Freeman Hole-in-One At Woodstock, Aug. 2

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Gene Sarazen is one of the all-time golf immortals, rated by sportswriters the best copy in the business and the lone survivor of the Golden Age of American sports.

Refreshingly frank in his comments on any phase of golf, the Squire of Germantown, now 57, is a throwback to the era of Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones, Tommy Armour, Long Jim Barnes, Leo Diegel, Jock Hutchinson, Paul Runyan and other heroes of a nearly forgotten era.

Sarazen's name will always rank among the giants of golfdom and his survival as a topnotch competitor over four decades is one of the fascinating stories in golf.

The squat, chunky Westchester native, who to this day still wears knickers, brings strong credentials to his Woodstock Country Club exhibition Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. It will be his fourth trip to Ulster County, one of which was marked by a 65-65 standoff with Alex Gerlach on the Twaalfskill links.

• Won the PGA Titles:

Gene won three United States PGA championships and lost another to Tommy Armour, 1 up, at Fresh Meadow C.C., Flushing, in 1930. He won his first PGA crown in 1922, whipping Emmett French, 4 and 3, at Oakmont and repeated in 1923 with a 1 up victory in 36 holes over arch rival, Walter Hagen, at Pelham, N. Y. His third crown arrived in 1933, when he trounced Willie Goggin, 5 and 4, at Wauwatosa, Wis. Sarazen's classic duels with Armour, Hagen and Long Jim Barnes are legends in the game.

A strong booster of U. S.-British relations in golf, Sarazen grabbed the British Open in 1932, when it was one of the world's most coveted titles. The British Open has lost much of its appeal to American golfers in recent years because it pays only $2,800 but it remains one of the most difficult tournaments in the world. Sarazen always a popular favorite in Britain, manages to make the British Open every other year.

• The Double Eagle:

Sarazen has two United States Opens to his credit, the first coming in 1922 with a 288 score at Skokie, Ill. He repeated 10 years later at Fresh Meadow with a 286 and in 1940 lost a playoff to Lawson Little, 70-73, at Canterbury in Cleveland.

His victory in the 1935 Masters at Augusta, Ga., will be remembered as long as golf is played. That was the year of the deathless double-eagle on the par-5, 13th hole, which enabled him to tie Craig Wood whom he defeated in a playoff. The Augusta National played a tablet at the spot where Sarazen unloaded his historic wood shot.

Long since retired from the tournament circuit, Sarazen is now a wealthy man living the life of a country squire at nearby Germantown, where he operates a large dairy farm. He still goes after the big ones like the Open, PGA and Masters and there is, of course, that biennial trip to England and Scotland. He makes only infrequent exhibition appearances, one for the Francis Ouimet Caddy Scholarship Fund in Boston, a nationwide project in which he has been a motivating factor.

His appearance at Woodstock Sunday is a rare opportunity for the golf and sports fans in general. Giants of this size seldom pass our way in this part of the country. It's worth watching a Sarazen exhibition, only to disprove the theory that golf must be played cautiously, deliberately and carefully. Gentleman Gene plays fast and he plays good.

Dunlop 65 Ball Again Official for Tourney

The 11th annual Kingston Daily Freeman Hole-in-One golf tournament will be held Sunday, Aug. 2, at the Woodstock Country Club.

The competition will be held on Woodstock's beautiful finishing ninth hole, at a distance of 135 yards.

There is no entry fee and the tournament is open to all players who are bona fide residents of Ulster County.

Each contestant will be allowed four shots.

An official entry blank will appear on the sports pages of The Daily Freeman and blanks may also be obtained at area golf clubs.

The tournament starts at 9 a. m. and will continue until all entries are accommodated.

Golf balls will be furnished by the Daily Freeman through the courtesy of the Dunlop Sports Division. The Dunlop 65 has been the official Freeman hole-in-one ball for the past 10 years.

First place winners in the men's and women's divisions will receive beautiful sterling silver trays. Merchandise prizes will be awarded to the runnersup on the basis of entries.

Defending champions are County Judge Louis G. Bruhn and Mrs. Frank Barger, who is no longer in the area. Judge Bruhn won the 1958 event at Twaalfskill with a 22½-inch shot, second best in the 10-year history of the tournament.

Wiltwyck Course Closed to Local Play for 2 Days

Because of the tremendous pressure created by the three-day Wiltwyck Invitational, which got under way in full swing this morning, the course will be closed to other play on Saturday and Sunday, the golf committee has announced.

More than 100 players are expected, many of whom must play 36 holes each day. All members are invited to participate in the event, which is on a handicap basis beyond the second flight, and requires only 18 holes a day in these handicap flights.

For those who do not enter, the facilities of Twaalfskill and Woodstock have been opened to Wiltwyck members on those days, if they will tee off before 11 a. m.; and in Woodstock on Sunday before 1 p. m.

Bob Boughton, Wayne Passer and Bob Warhola had doubles and Thomas Golgoski slapped a triple.

Little LEAGUERS

Dick Schabot Hurls No-Hitter

Dick Schabot pitched a brilliant no-hitter last night in a National Little League game as the Tigers blanked the Cubs, 5-0. Schabot walked three batters and struck out 15 in outpitching Hank Houghtaling, who was superb in defeat.

Houghtaling allowed only four hits and he struck out 16 batters in recording all but two of the outs via the strikeout route. However, he allowed nine bases on balls and they proved to be his undoing.

Bud Bunt had one of the Tigers' four hits, a ringing double. The winners opened with a two run first inning and then added a single marker in the third and two more in the fifth.

Ulster Dodgers Get Win, 20-9

The Dodgers exploded for 12 runs in the first inning and then romped to a 20-9 win over the Braves in a Town of Ulster Little League game last night.

The winners had 10 base hits and received plenty of walks to aid their victory. George Brocco led the attack with a triple and single. John Banyo and Fred de Temple doubled for the Braves.

Scott Miller won the tilt and Dave Boice was the loser.

Bill Buddenhagen went the distance for the winners. He was touched for six hits and also walked five batters. However, he survived a few trouble spots and picked up the win.

Joe Kenock and Bill Kenock socked doubles and Rios had a big home run.

Giants Topple Yankees, 19-2

Scoring in every inning, the Giants won an easy 19-2 decision over the Yankees in a Town of Hurley Little League tilt yesterday. The winners put together 11 base hits including a home run by Ken Hopper and were never threatened.

Hopper had two singles in addition to his four bagger. Ken Wamsley slugged a double while Gary Boesmer had two doubles for the losers. Behind this robust attack, Al Pederson picked up the win. He spaced five hits and was scored on only in the first and third innings.

Pitcher Makes Shiny Debut

Dave Baldwin, 21, appeared in his first professional baseball game Thursday night.

He pitched a two-hit shutout for Williamsport against Springfield. Although he was slightly wild at times, walking seven men, only one Springfield player got to third as the Grays defeated the Giants 14-0 and lengthened their Eastern League lead to 4 games.

York defeated second-place Allentown 7-2, Reading defeated Lancaster 6-4, and Binghamton edged Albany 10-0.

Ernie Lewis' fast ball and sharp curve held Allentown to six hits.

Bob Burda's double and single brought in three York runs. Lewis' ninth-inning triple, another, and a pair of Red Sox errors in the fourth two more.

LeRoy Thomas' three-run homer in the eighth pushed Binghamton from behind for its third victory in the four-game series with Albany.

Julio Guerra held Lancaster to one unearned run, fanning 11 men in the process, until the ninth when the Red Sox rallied for three runs on singles by Jerry Palma, Jesse Rogers, and Lou Jackson.

Glenco Braves Rout Yanks, 23-3

The Glenco-East Kingston Braves scored 13 runs in the top of the sixth and got 2-hit pitching from Frank Serravallo and Ernest Bonelli to trounce the Yankees, 23 to 3.

Nine singles and a double, plus a walk, made up the ingredients for the Braves' rally against Matty De Pola, who pitched the distance for the Yankees. De Pola gave up 17 hits and struck out eight.

Serravallo, Dom Berardi and Bob Aiello clobbered a double and two singles apiece for the Braves. Don Fiore hit a single and double. Bonelli and Fred Serravallo had two singles each.

American League Race Closer Antonelli Wins 14th Game 1-0

Dusty Rhodes Gets Pinch Hit Single As Giants Split

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Giants last won the National League pennant, 1954, southpaw Johnny Antonelli led the league in winning percentage and earned run average. And a guy named Dusty Rhodes kept thrilling the Giants' rooters by drilling clutch hits.

It was that way again Thursday night. Antonelli pitched a three-hit shutout and Rhodes came through with a run-scoring pinch single in the ninth for a 1-0 victory at Philadelphia. That retained San Francisco's one-game lead over idle Los Angeles after the Phillies had won the opener of the two-night double-header 6-4.

Tied With Face

It was Antonelli's 14th victory, once more tying him with Pittsburgh's relief ace Roy Face as the winningest pitcher in the majors. It also was Antonelli's third shutout of the year, all in his last four starts, and gave him the ERA lead in the National League at 2.49.

He fanned nine and walked but two Thursday night.

The split also pushed the Giants two games ahead of the Milwaukee Braves, who lost their third in a row to the Chicago Cubs 4-2. Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 7-5. Robin Roberts 8-8 beat the Giants in the opener although giving up 10 hits. Wally Post had three hits, scored twice and drove in two runs for the Phils. He tripled home the winner in the seventh inning against losing reliever Jack Sanford (7-9), the ex-Phil starter.

Burdette Beaten

Ernie Banks' solo 25th home run gave the Cubs a 3-1 lead in the fourth inning and beat Lew Burdette (12-9). Dave Hillman (5-7) went all the way, allowing nine hits, against the Braves.

Jerry Lynch drove in four runs for the Reds with a single and homer, then set up another run with a single. Johnny Temple's single broke a 5-5 tie in the sixth against losing reliever Marshall Bridges (3-1). Willard Schmidt (2-2) was the winner in relief.

Yankees Sweep Cleveland Club In Doubleheader

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

All you can say about the American League pennant race at the moment is IF.

IF the Chicago White Sox can do no worse than split the four-game series they open in New York tonight against the Yankees, they might be able to do something with their newly reacquired lead.

IF the Cleveland Indians can rebound quickly they might bounce right back into first place in a four-game series at Boston opening tonight.

IF the Yankees can sweep the White Sox, or at worse lose no more than one of the four, then it might be all over.

The White Sox slipped back into first place while splitting a double-header at Boston Thursday, losing 5-4 after pushing their winning streak to five games with a 4-3 decision in the opener. The Indians were joined to second, a game behind after a month's stay on top, when they dropped a double-header to the Yankees, 7-3 in 10 innings and 4-0.

Nats Sweep Tigers

Kansas City defeated third-place Baltimore 4-3, and Washington's spurring Senators swept a three-game series from Detroit's sliding Tigers 5-2.

The White Sox beat Boston on Sherm Lollar's tie-breaking double in the seventh inning against loser Tom Brewer (7-6). Dick Donovan won it. He allowed only four hits, but needed Gerry Staley's hitless two-inning save for a 6-5 record.

Ted Williams' pinch single in the sixth gave the Red Sox a 4-4 tie in the second game, and Vic Wertz who drove in an early run with one of two doubles, then beat reliever Ray Moore (2-6) with a seventh-inning single. Mike Fornieles gained his first victory in relief.

Bobby Shantz (4-3) pitched a five-hitter, walking two, striking out seven, for his fourth straight victory, first complete game and first shutout since 1967 in the nightcap for the Yankees. Enos Slaughter and Hank Bauer homered.

Mickey Wins It

The fourth-place Yanks gained a 5-5 tie on Yogi Berra's 11th homer in the ninth inning of the opener, then put it away on Mickey Mantle's two-run, two-out homer off losing reliever Gary Bell.

Tom Sturdivant's four innings of hitless relief saved it for the A's and Bud Daley (9-6), who gave up the Oriole runs on homers by Walt Dropo and Gus Triandos. Jerry Walker (7-4) lost it.

The Senators beat the Tigers' Ray Narleski (4-10) with two runs in the second on Faye Throneberry's home run and a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Bill Fischer (8-3).

Lions Win, 6-2. In Rondout Loop

Scoring all runs in the first and second innings, the Lions topped Elmendorf's, 6-2, in a Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League contest yesterday.

Jerry Howard went all the way for the win and also contributed a double and single to the attack. George Williams was the loser. He was touched for six base knocks.

Jim Ostrander doubled for the Lions.

Bluebirds Top Cardinals, 6-5

Dale Van Gaasbeck knocked in three runs with a long double and Tom Dittus pitched a 5-hitter to pace the Bluebirds to a 6-5 squeaker over the Cardinals in the Jaycees Minor League.

Richie McSpirt, the losing pitcher, allowed five hits. Stan Albright of the Bluebirds made a superlative fielding play in the third inning, going into the hole at short, knocking down a line drive off the bat of Glen Davis and throwing the runner out at first.

Van Gaasbeck added a single to his double and Richie McSpirt stroked two singles for the Cardinals.

Hilltop, Gallo's, 35 Club Win City Softball Contests

Hilltop Rest, Gallo's and 35 Club picked up victories in the City Softball League last night. The Hilltoppers nipped Chappie's Taxi, 5-2; Gallo's roared to a 12-5 win over Hercules and the 35 Club outslugged Dew Drop Inn, 13-9.

Dave Grubaugh fired the decision for Hilltop. He was touched for only three hits and had a shutout going until the sixth inning. Bill Ficalletti was the tough luck loser. He stroked the only extra base hit of the evening, a solid double.

Gallo's the league leaders, walloped 16 hits around the diamond and broke away with a two run fourth inning after leading by only a run, 5-4, starting the inning.

Tom Carlingo, Hawaka, Clearwater and Ferraro had home runs in the slugfest match. Beesmer, Perry and M. Amato hit doubles.

Steve Leoce picked up the win at the expense of John Costello.

There were only two extra base hits in the 35 Club-Dew Drop game. Sillings and Joe Klonowski had doubles.

The winners used a six run second inning to good advantage and it offset a five run third by the home side.

Matty Rich won although he was tagged for 13 base hits. Smith was the loser.

Spectacular Play Brings Results

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Jim Rose of Montreal is one of the nicest and most promising of the young players I have run across recently.

Like most young players he has a tendency to make spectacular plays but he seems to get plenty of spectacular results with him.

Jim opened the jack of diamonds against the normal three no-trump contract. North's king took the trick and the queen of clubs was led and finessed. At this point Jim could have taken his king and played for an average score but Jim simply dropped the five spot.

If South held two or four clubs Jim's play would have been suicide but Jim was sure that South would not have finessed with two

Women's Swim Now in California

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — Four champions defend their titles today in the Women's National AAU swimming championships that Sylvia Ruuska started off with meet record victory in the mile.

Miss Ruuska, although falling short of her American record, finished the gruelling test in 21 minutes 38.9 seconds Thursday night to beat the record of 22:13.7 established by Carolyn Murray of Los Angeles two years ago.

Today Miss Ruuska seeks to defend a second title, the 440-yard individual medley. Another young Californian, Chris Von Saltza, 15-year-old from Saratoga, Calif., races to retain her crowns in both the 110-yard freestyle and the 220-yard backstroke.

Billie Holiday Dies; Once Great Singer of Blues

NEW YORK (AP)—Billie Holiday died today in a city hospital bed—a wasted shadow of the once great blues singer who packed night clubs from coast to coast.

Bouts with narcotics and liquor had cracked her fine and mellow style, and she had been in eclipse in recent years.

The Negro entertainer—called "Lady Day"—died in Metropolitan Hospital. Her husband Louis McKay was at her bedside.

The immediate cause of death was given as congestion of the lungs complicated by heart failure.

Miss Holiday, 44, was taken to the hospital unconscious May 31 after she collapsed in her apartment.

When death came, she was under arrest—charged with possession of a pack of heroin in her bed.

In better days Miss Holiday had appeared with Benny Goodman and Louis Armstrong. Among her big song hits were "Them There Eyes," "Strange Fruit" and "I Cover the Waterfront."

Miss Holiday was born Eleanora Fagan in Baltimore April 7, 1915.

She started smoking marijuana at the age of 14. By the time she was 25—in 1940—she was on heroin. It was on and off the stuff after that.

She got her name Billie through her idolization of Billie Dove, the old-time movie star. She adopted her first name, and picked up the Holiday from a branch of her own family.

Billie Holiday married twice—the first time to her manager Jimmie Monroe.

She came to New York in 1928. Ten years later she was singing with Artie Shaw's band and was one of the first Negroes to appear with a top name band.

Goldfine Drops Defense Against Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bernard Goldfine has left himself open to a sentence of up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine by placing himself at the mercy of the court on a contempt of Congress indictment.

The Boston industrialist Thursday withdrew his earlier plea of innocent and entered a plea of nolo contendere. The new plea meant he did not wish to contest the case further.

The indictment against the gift-giving friend of former presidential assistant Sherman Adams contained 18 counts. But for purposes of sentencing, the number of counts made no difference.

Goldfine withdrew his defense against the indictment as a whole.

U. S. District Judge James W. Morris referred the case to the probation office for pre-sentence investigation and asked for a report as soon as possible. A date for sentencing will be set after the report is completed.

The judge indicated he intends to be lenient. He commented the no contest plea "implies the existence of mitigating circumstances in punishment."

Although the maximum penalty on the charge is the year in jail and a $1,000 fine, Morris could impose a sentence as light as one month in jail and a $100 fine. The judge could suspend any jail sentence.

SCAD to Appeal Ruling

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Commission Against Discrimination—citing national security interests—will appeal a court ruling against the Arabian-American Oil Co. on the issue of employing Jews.

SCAD Chairman Elmer A. Carter says the best interests of the United States require an appeal from the decision by State Supreme Court Justice Henry Epstein.

Epstein on Wednesday forbade Aramco to ask the religion of job applicants in New York State.

Long Starts War On Press in Cafe

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana went into Juarez, Mexico, today and within minutes was involved in a noisy night club incident.

The flareup came at a plush Juarez cafe, the Chantant, where Long loudly and profanely objected to the intrusion of newspaper cameramen on his party of eight.

The governor's party, including his Louisiana state police escort, and several friends, had gone to Juarez just before midnight, some hours after his arrival in El Paso from Big Spring, Tex.

He gave an indication of his temper when he encountered newsmen outside his room as he was leaving the hotel.

He shouted at the newsmen, asking them to leave him alone. He said he had been nice to them by holding a news conference just after his arrival and added: "If you don't leave me alone, I'm going to fix you and fix you good. I'll shoot the whole damn bunch of you."

A table had been prepared for the party at the Chantant and the members were seated immediately. Within minutes, cameramen appeared.

The governor saw the photographers, stood up and shouted: "Get those S.O.B.'s out of here. I didn't ask those S.O.B.'s over here."

After less than half an hour, Long and most of his party departed, without eating, and drove back to El Paso in the governor's limousine.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
TALK OF THE TOWN

Why don't autos get more mileage today than Lizzie did when Cal Coolidge was President?

Well, fact is that in the prime function of propelling a hundred pounds of car o'er hill and dale, we do get more miles per gallon.

But today's car weighs twice as much as the 1920 auto. This doubles the work to be done by the engine. In addition, we have handed the gallon a lot of new jobs.

Lizzie got you there and brought you back, but that's about all. You started her with a hand crank, and steered and braked her by main strength.

Besides moving today's car, gasoline charges the battery, furnishes electricity for the lights; runs the window wiper and radio; keeps you warm in winter, and in many cars, cool in summer. It opens and shuts windows, blows the horn, shifts gears, and does most of the work in braking and steering.

Without these power-eating accessories, miles per gallon would increase 40%.

Yet despite these new jobs, a dollar's worth of today's gasoline moves more tons per mile than it did in the '20's.

Part of this should be credited, of course, to smoother road surface; the leveling of hills; the straightening of curves, etc.

On the other hand, remember inflation. If we could measure car costs today with Coolidge's 100-cent dollar, today's performance by the automobile and petroleum industries would be the talk of the town.

ICC Votes Boost InCommuterFares For 2 Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Lackawanna and Jersey Central railroads have approval from the Interstate Commerce Commission to raise commuting fares to New York City an average of 15 per cent.

The New Jersey Public Utility Commission says it doubts it will review the Jersey Central case. But PUC President Ralph Fusco said it would make a decision in the Lackawanna case "completely independent" of the ICC.

The PUC recently concluded hearings on the Lackawanna's petition for higher fares.

The ICC ruling applied to fares from suburban New Jersey to New York City. Both railroads may increase unrestricted monthly fares $3, restricted monthly fares up to $2.70 and weekly fares 75 cents.

The Central had asked for a 40 per cent increase.

The boosts may be made effective on 10 days' notice.

The PUC has already granted the Central a 20 per cent interim raise on intrastate fares on its petition for a 40 per cent increase.

The Central said it would obtain $1,065,500 more in fares a year by a 40 per cent increase and the Lackawanna said a 15 per cent increase would raise its revenues $706,000 annually.

Fusco said the PUC would not review the ICC ruling on the Central unless a complaint is made to the commission or unless the PUC finds intrastate fare increases it grants are lower than interstate fares.

If there is a difference, Fusco said the Central could suggest to the ICC that PUC rates are so low they are placing a burden on interstate commerce.

The ICC could then order the PUC to raise its rates to whatever level the ICC decides. Fusco said.

Summit May Come After Premier's Tour

GENEVA (AP)—There seems to be a tacit understanding with the Soviets that the East-West summit conference—if it is arranged—will be held in Geneva.

Western diplomats think it will come soon after the windup of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Scandinavian tour Aug. 30.

The United States, Britain and France are reported taking it for granted that the conference will be confined to the Big Four powers.

East and West German delegates almost certainly will be along to serve as "advisers" in any talks on Berlin and the wider problems of a German peace settlement. But the Germans will withdraw when non-German issues come up.
